Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

September 26 & 27, 2015

...these little ones who believe in me. The disciples, in today's Gospel, learn that discipleship is fraught with hard lessons, challenges, and surprises. The disciples are bothered that others are healing and acting in Jesus' name but are not his followers. However, Jesus' concern is that his disciples should be willing to go to great lengths to be servants of those entrusted to their care. It is interesting that after telling the apostles, "Whoever is not against us is for us."

Finding Jesus In The Eucharist Four Ways He Is Present (Part 1)

*By Rev. Lawrence E. Mick
St. Anthony Messenger Press*

"Where is Jesus?" is a key question for all of us who celebrate the Eucharist. In his 2003 encyclical letter on the Eucharist, Ecclesia de Eucharistia, the late Pope John Paul II recalled the program he suggested for the Church in his letter at the close of the Jubilee Year: "To contemplate the face of Christ, and to contemplate it with Mary, is the program which I have set before the Church at the dawn of the third millennium" (#6). "To contemplate Christ," the pope added, "involves being able to recognize him wherever he manifests himself, in his many forms of presence, but above all in the living sacrament of his body and his blood."

The challenge of recognizing the face of Christ goes far beyond the Eucharist, for we are called to see his presence in all our brothers and sisters. The Eucharist, however, teaches us how to recognize him and where to look for him. If we grow in our ability to recognize him when we gather to celebrate the Mass, we will also find it easier to see his face around us all through the week.

WHERE IS JESUS?

Most Catholics have been well trained to recognize the presence of Christ in the bread and wine that we believe becomes the very body and blood of Christ in the celebration of the Eucharist. We have long called this the Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist.

The Second Vatican Council, in its 1963 Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy, reminded us that there are also other ways that Christ can be found in the Eucharist. Echoing the teaching of Popes Pius X, XI and XII earlier in the 20th century, the Council's Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy spoke of four modes of Christ's presence: "To accomplish so great a work, Christ is always present in his Church, especially in its liturgical celebrations. He is present in the sacrifice of the Mass, not only in the person of his minister, 'the same now offering, through the ministry of priests, who formerly offered himself on the cross,' but especially under the Eucharistic elements. By his power he is present in the sacraments, so that when a man baptizes it is really Christ himself who baptizes. He is present in his word, since it is he himself who speaks when the holy Scriptures are read in the Church. He is present, lastly, when the Church prays and sings, for he promised: 'Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them' (Mt 18:20)"(CSL,#7).

Christ is present in the Eucharist, then, 1) in the assembly that gathers in Christ's name, 2) in the priest or bishop who presides, 3) in the word proclaimed in our midst, and 4) in the Eucharistic elements of bread and wine. Though they differ from each other, each of these presences is real, and each offers us a unique opportunity to recognize Christ with us.

Archdiocesan Annual Appeal for 2015

Today's readings lead us to reflect on the gifts we have been given, and the source of those gifts — God.

In the first reading and in the gospel, we hear of men who raise objections when they see others participating in God's mission. Moses' followers were appalled when they noticed that two men who were not among their company had been given the gift of prophecy. Surely prophesying was not their place. And, in the gospel reading, Jesus' disciples objected to men who were casting out demons in Christ's name.

In both cases, the objectors were assured that the men had been given gifts from God, and their decision to use those gifts to serve God's kingdom was indeed a good thing. The readings serve to remind us that every one of us has been given great gifts, and we are called to recognize those gifts, to receive them gratefully, and to use them in service of God and neighbor. When we do this, we participate in Christ's own mission of loving service. He came to give Himself for us, and He has given us many gifts so that we can join Him in His earthly mission, using our gifts to proclaim His truth and serve one another.

What gifts has God given you? How are you using them? Do you find yourself caught up noticing the gifts others have been given and wondering about their proper use of them? Or, do you rejoice in the gifts God has given you and others, doing your best to participate in the mission of the Church, serving God by giving yourself and your gifts back to Him in gratitude for all He has given you?
