Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

June 11 & 12, 2016

Be glad in the Lord and rejoice. Jesus turns our expectations inside out. Today's readings speak to us about God's overflowing mercy when we admit our weakness before Him. In His mercy and love, we are graced with peace and freedom, which is completely undeserved. The women in today's gospel understood the need for forgiveness - touched by God's love more deeply than shame and bitterness. How do we find our identity to love - and not count the cost?

Church Repair Status

Please visit www.blessedsacramentregina.ca for more details.

Church Floor & Bell Tower Underpinning Project: Caltec Flooring is waiting for the southwest church floor to lower by another 3/8 of an inch before they can restart the installation of the new floor tiles. Caltec is eager to restart the flooring project and their men are ready to start as soon as the building settles into place.

The BBK Structural Engineer made a site visit this week to finalize the design drawings for the new structural skeleton to accommodate the tower bells. The original 1905 cast iron saddles that held the three bells will be replaced with new sealed bearing cages which will be bolted to the metal frame of the new structural skeleton.

This week the BBK Structural Engineer also inspected the four(4) exposed massive transept columns/pads. The engineer has made a final revision to the pile design. The eight(8) new piles for the transepts will need to go deeper than the initial design. Now that the design has been finalized, the general contractor has brought the hydro vac crew back on site to bore this last batch of pile holes.

Rediscover Mercy - Give Drink To The Thirsty

Reflection by a Dynamic Catholic Team

The works of mercy are broken up into two categories: the corporal works of mercy and the spiritual works of mercy. Sacred Scripture defines seven corporal works of mercy (Matt 25:31-46): Feed the hungry, Give drink to the thirsty, Cloth the naked, Shelter the homeless, Visit the sick, Visit the imprisoned, Bury the dead. The corporal works of mercy are concerned primarily with meeting the physical needs of others.

For many of us, feeling parched doesn't last very long — there is almost always bottled water, a drinking fountain, or a water cooler nearby. But sadly, there is an overwhelming amount of people on the planet who still don't have access to clean drinking water. They spend their entire existence thirsting physically for life-sustaining H2O.

We are all thirsting for something. Oftentimes it's something that not even water can quench. We are thirsting emotionally: for good marriages, the love of a parent, attention, an honest friend, validation, and happiness. We are thirsting intellectually: for knowledge, continuous learning, meaningful work, and thought-provoking conversations. We are thirsting spiritually: for wisdom, purpose, and a deeply personal relationship with Jesus. We live in a world full of people who are thirsty, waiting for — wanting, needing — someone to satisfy their thirst. You and I are called to give drink to the thirsty, whether those people are living in developing countries or in our own homes.

GIVE DRINK TO THE THIRSTY

In a literal sense, we can donate money to organizations that are committed to bringing clean and safe water to people in countries like Haiti, Ethiopia, and India. Some of us may even be compelled to go on a mission trip. Figuratively, we can say “I love you” more often. We can listen attentively, remember people's names, and look people in the eye during conversations. We can ask people how they are doing and wait for their reply. We can smile at everyone we pass on the street, and offer compliments when compliments are due. We can impart knowledge, pray for others, and share how God has done and is doing amazing things in our lives.

What are you thirsting for? Chances are, someone in your life is thirsting for that exact same thing. By understanding our own thirst, we are able to quench the thirst of others. The works of mercy challenge us to step outside of our comfort zones, and to put the needs of others before our own needs — and wants. The works of mercy challenge us to “not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love” (Prayer of Saint Francis). The works of mercy challenge us to see Jesus in every single person. If today you saw Jesus thirsting—physically, emotionally, intellectually, or spiritually — wouldn't you do everything in your ability to satisfy his thirst?

REFLECTION

Focus: In what ways can you quench Jesus's thirst?

Act: Identify someone whose thirst you can quench, whether that is by donating to an organization or loving someone you encounter.

Pray: Jesus, you said on the cross, “I thirst.” Help that plea to echo in my soul. Help me to quench your thirst by serving the people around me.

Over the course of our three-year program, we will deepen your understanding of the Church and your faith through solid teaching by our diocesan priests and religious as well as lay men and women, all experts in their respected fields. As your confidence in the areas of theology, ethics, and social justice, scripture, liturgy, and the spiritual life grows, you will be able to speak confidently about the church, your faith and your relationship with Jesus Christ in your family, the workplace, the parish and the wider community.
