Jesus and the Beloved disciple at the Last Supper

Our Parish Mission: We, the faith community of Blessed Sacrament Parish, seek to help those whom God has placed in our lives to experience the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ. As Jesus' disciples, with the grace of the Holy Spirit, we strive to become living gospels of life through our daily loving choices to serve God, one another, our parish and our community.

Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time

September 17 & 18, 2016

One cannot serve both God and money. Today's Gospel sounds puzzling. Jesus tells a parable about a dishonest steward who is commended for his good judgement. A steward is dismissed because he is squandering his master's property. Like the steward in the parable, those who would follow Jesus must put their affairs in proper perspective with an eye toward eternal life. It is this action in which the steward puts aside his greed.

Rediscover Mercy - Counsel The Doubtful

Reflection by a Dynamic Catholic Team

The works of mercy are broken up into two categories: the corporal works of mercy and the spiritual works of mercy. The spiritual works of mercy are designed to meet the spiritual needs of others: Instruct The Ignorant, Counsel The Doubtful, Admonish The Sinner, Bear Wrongs Patiently, Forgive Offences Willingly, Comfort The Afflicted, Pray For The Living and The Dead.

When it comes to counseling the doubtful, it's hard to know how to begin. If you have ever tried to help someone struggling with doubt, then you know how challenging it can be. The first step is to move away from viewing doubt as a problem that you are meant to fix. Being an instrument of God's mercy is, by its very nature, not about fixing—it's about healing. By not viewing doubt (or the person) as a problem to be fixed, you can encourage the afflicted person to explore the meaning behind their doubt. Doubt, after all, isn't always a bad thing. It can be the driving force behind an honest pursuit of truth. (Just ask any convert!)

The second step is to recognize that counseling the doubtful doesn't always begin with great advice. Sometimes, engaging in the "ministry of presence" is the best way to prepare a heart to receive the counsel they need. Let me explain this, because I think it is a revolutionary point.

When I was in high school, my twin sister received some awful news. After a decade of complete dedication to her craft as a ballerina—I am talking three hours of practice every day, six days a week, for 10 years—she was told she had scoliosis. In the snap of a finger, her dancing career was over. The news devastated her. Her entire world seemed to be crumbling around her. I remember one night going in to our shared bathroom to brush my teeth. I could hear her weeping in her room. I went inside and saw her sitting on the floor with her head against her closet, sobbing. I sat down next to her and put my arm around her. For about 20 minutes she just cried in my arms. When she settled down we both got up, hugged, and said goodnight.

My sister was in a state where she seriously doubted whether or not everything would be ok. How do you convince someone otherwise? How can you provide counsel for this kind of doubt? Sometimes, at first, the doubter isn't ready for words. Before she could start dreaming again, my sister needed to be reminded that she was loved simply for who she is and not because of what she does. Don't we all need that reminder every once in a while? In the weeks that followed, she was ready to hear the counsel that truly healed her doubting heart. So remember, even if you have the perfect words, check to see if the person's heart is ready to truly hear those words.

REFLECTION

Focus: Before counseling the doubtful, ask yourself two questions: Am I trying to fix a problem? Is their heart ready to hear the words that need to be said?

Act: Make a concrete plan to show up for someone who needs you.

Pray: May today there be peace within. May you trust God that you are exactly where you are meant to be. May you not forget the infinite possibilities that are born of faith. May you use those gifts that you have received, and pass on the love that has been given to you. May you be content knowing you are a child of God. Let this presence settle into your bones, and allow your soul the freedom to sing, dance, praise, and love. It is there for each and every one of us. (Saint Therese of Liseux, Story of a Soul)

Church Repair Status

Please visit www.blessedsacramentregina.ca for more details.

Church Floor Underpinning & Replacement Project: This week Caltec Flooring has installed about 90% of the new carpet in the sanctuary. The altar has been returned to its proper place. The electrical wiring to the ambo needs to be replaced. The Breda Brothers still need to complete repairs to firm up the communion rails; finish up the doors and blinds in children's room; repair damaged pews and kneelers; refasten the pews and repair the confessional.

The South Saskatchewan Community Foundation Helps

Almost 1 year ago, Blessed Sacrament Church began a very necessary, but very complicated, restoration project. Required repairs and renovations were more extensive than first anticipated, although it is a blessing that structural deficiencies were discovered while repair was still possible! The expenses, however, were likewise greater than anticipated. We needed help and turned to the South Saskatchewan Community Foundation (SSCF).

The South Saskatchewan Community Foundation graciously offered Blessed Sacrament a large matching grant, which has made it possible for our project to continue. This vital gift was provided through the Anonymous Donor Fund of the SSCF.

The donors to the Anonymous Donor Fund recognize Blessed Sacrament Parish as an important inner city faith community serving the spiritual and social needs of its increasing new Canadian congregation. They are also aware of its role in providing daily Mass to down town workers, to those visiting our city, and staying in down town hotels. The donors acknowledge the church's significant historical importance and are anxious to preserve it as heritage property.

It is difficult to convey adequately our gratitude to the South Saskatchewan Community Foundation and to the Anonymous Donor Fund in particular for this large and generous gift. The work of repairing, restoring, and renovating Blessed Sacrament Parish would simply not have been possible without their financial help.

The South Saskatchewan Community Foundation is a public foundation serving the people of South Saskatchewan. The foundation builds permanently endowed charitable funds for the changing needs and opportunities of the community and provides grants to eligible charitable organizations in culture, health, education, environment, recreation, and social services sectors.

Should you be interested in further information about the South Saskatchewan Community Foundation and their important philanthropic and community work, you are encouraged to visit their website at www.sscf.ca

At the Heart of the Action

Development and Peace 50 years of Solidarity

Climate change is an issue of justice! The most poor and vulnerable in the Global South suffer the most from the impacts of climate change, yet they are the ones who contribute the least to the carbon emissions that are warming the planet. Did you know that Canada has carbon emissions that are 150 times higher per capita than Ethiopia, one of the countries in the world that suffers the most from drought conditions exacerbated by climate change? Pope Francis reminds us of our responsibility to act in his encyclical Laudato Si: "The pace of consumption, waste and environmental change has so stretched the planet's capacity that our contemporary lifestyle, unsustainable as it is, can only precipitate catastrophes, such as those which even now periodically occur in different areas of the world. The effects of this imbalance can only be reduced by our decisive action, here and now." Learn more at devp.org/climate of change.
