DISCUSSIONS WITH POPE LEO

This past week, Pope Leo held discussions on some of the most pressing issues facing humanity today, including artificial intelligence and its impact on human dignity, healthy ageing, sports diplomacy, and environmental sustainability.

Reimagining moral leadership

Addressing the participants at the conclusion of a meeting, Pope Leo described the gathering as “the first step of a process aimed at renewing and reimagining moral leadership in a world that today appears fractured and forgetful of its historical roots.”

Reflecting on some of the themes developed in his Encyclical Magnifica humanitas, the Pope reiterated the importance of dialogue in confronting contemporary challenges. “We seek to identify new paths for the common good and for promoting a dignified life for all,” he said, recalling his call “to engage in dialogue with all men and women of our time, with whom we share in the events, questions and aspirations of humanity.”

The Holy Father warned against what he called a growing “spiritual and cultural blindness” that risks disconnecting society from its historical memory. “A false pragmatism,” he said, “urges us to sever the roots of our history, as if it were possible to inaugurate a kind of ‘new creation’ detached from the past.” He also cautioned that even those who invoke moral principles can fall into a form of “historical nihilism,” mistakenly believing that the tragedies of the twentieth century cannot be repeated.

Pope Leo then went on to note that the dialogues were inspired by the Church’s vision of synodality, bringing together diverse voices while seeking unity around shared concerns. He commended participants for their commitment to promoting ecological, social and economic renewal despite their different backgrounds and areas of expertise.

The challenges of technological development

Turning to the ethical challenges posed by technological and economic development, the Pope contrasted two opposing visions of society. “In the face of the temptation to build the ‘Tower of Babel,’ which represents the idolatry of profit at the expense of the most vulnerable and enhances the risk of dehumanisation,” he said, Christians are called instead “to contribute to the construction of the New Jerusalem, the civilization of love.”

The Pope explained that such a civilisation is built not through grand gestures but through daily acts of fidelity and care. “The civilisation of love will not arise from a single or spectacular gesture, but from the sum total of small and steadfast acts of fidelity that serve as a bulwark against dehumanization,” he said.

Nativity of John the Baptist

WE DON’T know the actual date of the birth of John the Baptist. No biblical or historical record tells us. But Luke’s Gospel (1:36) says that John’s mother, Elizabeth, was six months pregnant when the angel Gabriel obtained Mary’s consent to become the mother of Jesus. A tradition eventually established December 25 for the liturgical observance of the birth of Christ, so the Nativity of John the Baptist was placed on the calendar six months earlier.

In the northern hemisphere this works out especially well because of something John the Baptist said in reference to Christ, according to John 3:30: “He must increase, but I must decrease.” The hours of daylight begin to decrease with the birth of John the Baptist, only to increase with the birth of Christ.

Normally, the Catholic liturgical calendar celebrates the anniversary of a saint’s death because it marks the birth of that saint into eternal life. There are three exceptions. The calendar observes the nativity of these central New Testament figures: Jesus, Mary, and John the Baptist. John foreshadows Christ by his birth, his preaching, and his martyrdom. So important is his nativity that we observe it every year, even when it falls on a Sunday. We replace the usual readings and prayers of Ordinary Time in order to honor the birth of an extraordinary saint.

The Missal offers two sets of presidential prayers, one for the Vigil Mass on the evening of June 23, and the other for the Mass during the day on June 24. These prayers allude to biblical passages about John as the Precursor of Christ. Among these is the Benedictus, the hymn sung by John’s father Zachariah, which forms part of the Church’s Morning Prayer every day of the year.

Archdiocese of Regina Youth and Young Adult Events

The Archdiocese of Regina's Youth Leadership Camp is back for another amazing year. It'll take place August 10-14 at Glen Harbour Kids Camp.

This year's theme is Story Time, which will see us journey through some of the stories of our faith. We'll laugh, we'll cry, and ultimately discover how these stories of old are still relevant to our lives here today.

If you're interested in growing in faith, developing your ability to lead in various situations, expanding your network of friends and community, and enjoying the beach, great food, fantastic music, and amazing games along the way, then you need to join us!

Register now at bit.ly/oyyam-camp. If you have any questions, email us at oyyam@archregina.sk.ca.

Press Pause & Pray: A Young Adult Retreat is back once again! Join us August 15-16 at Glen Harbour Kids Camp for a weekend filled with prayer, music, community, and inspiring talks to help you grow in your faith journey. Cost is $50. For more info or to register, check out bit.ly/archoyyam, or email oyyam@archregina.sk.ca if you have any questions.

Ever since the early years of our Church, Christians have left the comfort of their homes to journey to sacred places around the world. Following this rich tradition, World Youth Day pilgrims travel to the host city seeking something in particular out of that experience.

While on the surface, these pilgrimages may seem like any other vacation or trip, they are much more than that. "To go on pilgrimage really means to step out of ourselves in order to encounter God".

If you are interested in taking part in this incredible pilgrimage, join us for an information night on July 9th. Visit bit.ly/oyyamtrip to learn more and to register for the meeting.

Pope Leo XIV's Encyclical Letter: Magnifica Humanitas

Pope Leo XIV's Encyclical Letter, Magnifica Humanitas, was released today. It focuses on safeguarding the human person in the time of artificial intelligence. The letter is dated 15 May, to commemorate the 135th anniversary of Pope Leo XIII's Encyclical Letter, Rerum Novarum. The Dicastery for Promoting Integral Human Development offers the following synopsis of the Encyclical Letter: "Magnifica Humanitas offers insights into the protection of the human person in the age of artificial intelligence, recognizing a profound epochal shift. It places the dignity of the human person at the centre as the criteria for guiding technical progress. The Church's social teaching accompanies these transformations, pointing to the common good, solidarity and subsidiarity as the fundamental benchmarks for understanding and interpreting the transformation currently underway. It proposes, as an alternative to the culture of power and war, a civilization of love founded on justice, dialogue and shared responsibility."

Stewardship Bulletin Bit

"...whoever does not take up his cross and follow after me is not worthy of me." Matthew 10:38

Pope Benedict XVI said "The world offers you comfort. But you were not made for comfort, you were made for greatness". "Comfort" puts me first. "Picking up your cross and following Jesus" puts God and others first. Why settle for comfort when you can achieve greatness! Pick up your cross, ask Jesus for guidance on using your gifts and live the life God intended for you!
